

Another reason to Sing for the LORD

Children who sing in choruses have greater academic success and more advanced social skills than children who don't sing, a national study by Chorus America has found. Large majorities of parents and educators surveyed for the study attributed a significant part of a child's academic success to singing in a choir.

The results show children who sing in choirs display many of the enhanced social skills found in adult singers, substantiating earlier conclusions that singing in childhood is likely to have an enormous influence on the choices individuals make later in life.

Children who sing in choruses have academic success and valuable life skills. The majority of parents surveyed believe multiple skills increased after their child joined a chorus. Seventy-one percent said their child had become more self-confident, 70% that self-discipline had improved, and 69% that the child's memory skills had improved. More than 80% of educators surveyed - across multiple academic disciplines - agreed with parent assessments that choir participation enhanced numerous aspects of a child's social development and academic success. Educators also observed that children who sang were better participants in group activities, had better emotional expression and exhibited better emotional management. Children who participated in a chorus had significantly better grades than those who had never sung in a choir.

The study report said the decline in choral singing opportunities for children was of concern.

We are truly blessed to be able to provide choral opportunities within our church. Children are the voices of our future and our future leaders.

Under the direction of Mr. Joe Luechauer supported on piano by Mrs. Pauline Luechauer, your child will be exposed to a quality musical experience! Singing not only glorifies Our Heavenly Father, it helps prepare our kids for future success!

Kaebnick Korner

The following letter is from Drew DeLeo, who is a junior at Atlantic University. He is the son of Pam Cunningham and has been active in our church for many years. Since high school Drew has participated in mission trips to Peru and Italy.

I'd like to start by thanking the congregation and Harriett Kaebnick for the continued support of my academics this past semester. In addition to working at the Delaware Chicken Farm, I've been taking Management and Economics courses. School feels a little different after graduating from Broward College in the Spring. Now I attend classes at Florida Atlantic University and I'm finishing my Bachelor's Degree in International Business Management. Taking classes in Boca Ration gives me new places to see and people to meet which will be beneficial when I graduate. I've not made any Mission Trip plans yet, but I am anxious to see where the Lord will guide me next.

God Bless
Andrew DeLeo

Youth Ministry

The HHUMC youth group has impacted me in many ways. Before I joined the youth group, I was very shy with not many friends who I could really trust. But now I have many friends who I love and who love me just as much. I know that everyone who is in my youth group is very trustworthy. I know for a fact that what is said in the room, stays in the room.

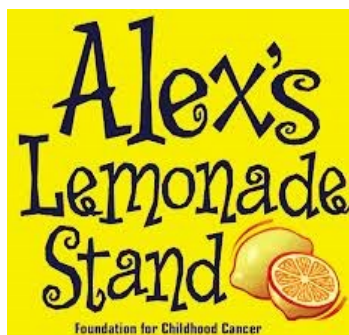

I also love the many fundraising events we have done, whether it is an Alex's Lemonade Stand for kids with cancer or not eating for 30 hours to raise money for those who are hungry. We do small things for people or big things to change the world. Either way its fun and you get to lend a helping hand. The HHUMC youth group is amazing and I love to go there whenever I can. I wouldn't give it up for the world!
